OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

The Chicago Times has information that Gen. Steele made a feint upon Washington to attract the attention of Kirby Smith, and then advanced and occupied the strong fortifications of Camden.

By our afternoon dispatches we have another rumor from New Orleans that Steele had taken Shreveport on the Red River and fortified the town. If the latter rumor be true, the forces of Banks and Steele will soon be united.

The Next Presidency.

William E. Cramer, Esq., editor-in-chief of the Daily Wisconsin, has been spending some time in the city of New York, from which he writes to his paper several interesting letters upon men and things. We quote from his last letter a portion of what he writes upon the subject of the Presidency. He says:

"I have been about a good deal among the people here, and I find that among the Union men Mr. Lincoln is the first choice of a very low. The general desire is for a new man, and who that man will be, it is impossible to determine until after Grant's campaign against Lee. If Grant defeats Lee, utterly destroys his army and occupies Richmond, thoughtful men perceive that the irrepressible love and enthusiasm of a grateful and intelligent people will carry him into the Presidency by a spontaneous acclamation. He will be the great man of the age and the country; and will have performed such vast services to the nation that all mere political candidates like Mr. Lincoln will be swept from the public notice. It is almost impossible to over-estimate the importance of Grant's campaign. The stability and prosperity of the industrial interests of the Republic depend upon his success. If he wins, the currency may be saved; if he loses, I shudder to think of the consequences. In view of the far-reaching importance of this campaign, it is not surprising that thoughtful patriots are so earnest for the postponement of the June Convention."

[In the same letter he speaks as follows of an interview which he had with Gen. McClellan.]

"I met him a few evenings since at the house of a friend, and held quite a conference with him upon political topics, and I was surprised and gratified to hear him speak so earnestly in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war. He said that he could not consent to a divided nationality. He considered no expenditure of blood and money too large to secure that object. He reiterated these views so strongly and unmistakably that it would indicate that McClellan is not to be run on a peace platform. Personally, Gen. McClellan is a pleasant man and is unquestionably popular; but my opinion of his Generalship has not changed. He is not a man of large ability, but if he should be nominated on a War platform sustained by a strong letter from himself, he will make a formidable candidate for the Presidency; but Gen. McClellan did not hesitate to say that if Grant wins decisively and gradually in his campaign against Lee, that it would be impossible to prevent Grant from being elected to the Presidency by the cordial concurrence of all parties. I was pleased to hear such earnest and patriotic words from a man whose friends desire so ardently to elevate him to the first office in the nation. It proves that the merit of Grant's services may be such as to bury all differences of opinion."

CHARLESTON.—Fort Sumter has been taken so many times that the people are tired of taking it. Few look towards Charleston; but it appears from the following paragraph in the Mercury of a late date that the firing is still kept up:

A new embargo for a three hundred pounder Parrott gun, being on Fort Sumter, was opened on Friday morning. During Tuesday night four shots were fired from Gregg at Sumter, all of which struck the fort. On Thursday the Yankee working parties had raised a gun for the purpose of hoisting a gun into position, when suddenly our batteries opened upon them, causing a rather hasty lowering of the gun and a dispersion of the blue coats. Since then a slow, desultory fire has been kept up against the enemy's works from a few of our guns.

THERE is among the curiosities on exhibition at the Maryland Sanitary Fair a punch-bowl which has this interesting history:

"The celebrated Tea Party at Boston, which performed the first great act of the Revolution by the destruction of the tea in the tea ships lying in Boston Harbor, and so prevented the collection of the odious tax which the British government had laid upon the Colonies without their consent, held its last meeting previous to doing so at the great work in the house of the party, Benjamin Edes of the Boston Gazette. The party was kept amply supplied with punch by Mr. Benjamin Edes, prepared in a china bowl of good dimensions by his son Peter Edes then a youth of nineteen. The family of the latter moved to Baltimore prior to the late war, and have sacredly preserved this precious relic. Before the death of Peter Edes, he wrote a letter detailing his share in the memorable event of which we treat, and requesting that the bowl should always be preserved in the family."

HENRY WARD BEECHER and THE NEWS-BOYS.—Last evening, while waiting for the train, Henry Ward Beecher lectured some newsboys at the depot for making such a loud noise in crying their newspapers. "There is no use in making such a noise," said he. "Announce your papers in a plain, but not boisterous manner, and you will sell them much more readily." His remarks were listened to with respect, and he seemed to have made quite an impression, when he asked: "What is the news to-night?" One of the urchins, "give me three cents, and I'll show you."—Springfield Union.

GENERAL PARAGRAPHS.

It is a Latin proverb that we all have a propensity to grasp forbidden fruit, and this is called perversity.

We should have all our communications with men as in the presence of God; and with God as in the presence of men.

Conscience makes man a coward; a man cannot steal but it accuses him; a man cannot swear but it checks him.

The discovery of what is true, and the practice of that which is good, are the two most important objects of philosophy.

Cowley says:—"To be a husbandman, is but a retreat from the city; to be a philosopher, from the world, as it is man's; into the world, as it is God's."

If thou wouldst be informed what God has written concerning thee in Heaven, look into thine own bosom and see what graces he hath wrought there in thee.

Major General Crittenden is assigned to command under General Burnside.

A negro being asked what denunciation Abraham Lincoln belonged to, replied: "De nomination for de presidency."

The government has contracted at Indianapolis for large amounts of corn at $1.08 per bushel.

The Queen of England was the purchaser at the Thackeray sale, of Charles Dickens's presentation copy of "A Christmas Carol" to the author of "Fanny Fair." Her majesty paid $100 for it.

PORTAGE CUR.—From Mayor Condon's inaugural address, we take the following:

"There is no city in the West, where the water is better, the air purer, or the health of the people so good, as in Portage. We have the best of schools, fine churches, an energetic, intelligent people, and Portage City is far, has a brighter prospect before her than any other inland town in the State. Situated as she is, at the head of steamboat navigation on the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, she is the great gateway through which all the vast wealth of the North must ever pass. Stretching out her arm for hundreds of miles up the Wisconsin to the Mississippi, and down the Fox; River, to Green Bay—commanding all the vast lumber regions and wealth of the North and North-West, she has the advantage both of an Eastern and Southern market."

Who the SPECULATORS ARE.—The New York Journal of Commerce says:

"We notice that many of the newspapers are denouncing the 'Wall Street operators,' and rejoicing over the 'lame ducks' among that much abused fraternity. Have the writers of these fancy squibs any idea who the stock gamblers are? It is not the 'Wall Street broker,' nor the 'William street shark,' nor any other mere instrument, who has been carrying on this exciting game. It is the minister, the doctor, the lawyer, the merchant, the mechanic, the shipowner, the banker, and if we have heard aright, the newspaper writer himself, who have been principals in these transactions. The whole community appeared to have been inoculated with an ungovernable appetite amounting to a mania, for this stimulant, and words of warning were of no avail. Let no one think that the evil will be cured by this sudden check. A brief interval, a day or two's sobriety is all that can be expected, and the bottle will go again to the lip."

THE NEW WISCONSIN LAND GRANTS.—We have already noticed that Senator Doolittle has introduced a bill granting additional sections of land for the construction of the proposed railroad from Tomah to Hudson and from Hudson to Superior and Bayfield.

The same bill also grants alternate sections, for ten sections in width on each side of the line, for the construction of a railroad from Berlin in a Northwestern direction to Bayfield and thence to Superior. The latter grant is one in which this section of the State is more particularly interested.

The bill will be heartily supported by the entire Wisconsin delegation, and a letter from Washington informs us that it will probably pass.—Milwaukee News.

A CROWNED THREAT.—The salvation of the Union now rests with General Grant and his veterans. All that Congress can do is to furnish the "sinews of war," and leave the generals alone. Let a tax be levied sufficient to save us from impending bankruptcy, and then Congress may either adjourn or amuse itself with President making at the expense of the people. But let the essential thing be done, and at once, or the people will soon be praying for a Cromwell to drive the national legislators from their seats and take in hand the work they persistently neglect.—Springfield Republican.

A Cape Ann party is responsible for the following:—"A lady in this town sent her husband to a store, to buy for her a dollar's worth of sugar, as the good wife was nearly out. The sugar not appearing, a few days afterward she asked her husband what he had done with it. He replied, after a few moments' hesitation and head-scratching, 'that he must have put it in his other vest pocket!'"

A restless genius who went to a Quaker meeting, and after bearing the decorous gravity as patiently as he could for an hour or two, at last declared that he could not stand it any longer. "Why," said he, "it is enough to tire the devil out." "Yes, friend," responded an elderly gentleman of the congregation, "does the devil know that is exactly what we want to do."

A western paper tells this story: "A farmer prosecuted his mother, ninety-one years old, for the cost of her board with him for nineteen years past. She has been living with him, taking care of his children, eight or nine in number, knitting stockings, &c. The judge dismissed the case and reprimanded the hard-hearted son."

COAL.—I have made permanent arrangements with Mr. Robert Law of Chicago, agent of several of the most extensive coal mines in the United States, and much the largest coal dealer in the northwest, to furnish a full supply of the best qualities of coal for Janesville and vicinity. In the course of a short time I shall be ready to make contracts for any amount at the lowest possible figures.

LOCAL MATTERS.

RETROGUS.—Rev. S. Farrington of Boston will preach at Lappin's Hall to-morrow at 10:30 o'clock a. m. and at 2 p. m.

A VALUABLE COW.—Mr. William M. Tallman sold to-day, to Messrs. Orcutt & Clark, a fat cow weighing 1715 pounds, for the snug little sum of $137.20. A profitable animal.

BOUND FOR DIXIE.—The 12th Wis. Regiment Veterans, passed through our city this afternoon at three o'clock bound South. They number 335 fighting men. The boys were in good spirits and ready for the fight. Good luck go with them.

AN AGRIEVED SOLDIER.—We have received a communication from a soldier in the 13th Regiment, in reply to "Impartial Justice," which is so much like the article published on yesterday upon the same subject, that we must decline to insert the last one.

The Next State Fair.—Shall it be held in Janesville?

Prof. J. W. Hoyt, of Madison, Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, paid our city a visit one day last week to ascertain the feeling of our citizens in regard to holding the next State Fair at this place. We learn that the Doctor met with as much encouragement as could well be expected during his brief stay, but not sufficient to warrant the Executive Committee in deciding positively to hold a Fair and hold it here. Since then we have been requested by some gentlemen who have the success of the agricultural interests of the State at heart, to give notice that there will be a public meeting at the Court Room next Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, to take the matter into consideration, and then and there determine whether the Fair shall be held here or not. The attendance of all persons in any manner interested is earnestly requested.

There are many reasons why the people of the State should not allow another year to pass without holding a State Fair; in fact all the reasons that ever existed for holding a fair at all, apply with the same force and pertinency now that they ever did. And while it is true that the minds of the people are greatly engrossed with matters pertaining to the gigantic struggle now going on, yet an agricultural State like ours cannot afford to let an interest droop or suffer upon which all other interests may be said to depend. No doubt is entertained but that if the Fair should be held here, in the thickly settled portion of the State, it would be attended with as much success as at any previous time, indeed, the county of Rock alone, ought to be able to get up a first class State Fair on her own account without help from outside barbarians. The buildings and grounds here could be fitted up at a much less cost than at almost any other point in the State, while the benefit which must result to the trade of the city during fair week, will readily suggest itself to every intelligent mind.

We hope to see the meeting next Wednesday evening so largely attended that its conclusions, whatever they may be, may be accepted as the voice of the city upon this subject.

Economy.

[For the Janesville Gazette.]

The old adage that "economy is wealth," never was in more need of being put in practice than at the present time. Not only by men of limited means, blessed with a large family, but by all classes.

Young men just starting in life, who have got their way to carve to fortune and to fame, ought to take heed and hold on to the pennies in order to obtain the pounds. Not that I would counsel the practice of taking the advantage of your fellow-men, or underhand dealing with any body to obtain riches, but simply to save a part of your yearly earnings for the good you may be able to do in years to come. Don't be afraid to wear a garment because it may not be of the latest cut or fashion, what though the young men of your acquaintance call you mean or stingy because you don't see fit to expend all your salary in dress. Keep on in the way you have begun and you will have cause to bless the day when you acquired habits of economy. Young ladies, you too, can exercise a healthy influence in this matter. Don't think your male friend miserly or mean if he happens to mention in your presence that he is going to "economize." Although you may find it very pleasant to go out to ride, or go to balls and parties, still you can let him know by a few words judiciously put in, that this is not the only way of your life, and take my word for it, you will be thought more of a than ever.

DISORDERS OF THE EYE AND EAR.—Dr. Gardner, Oculist and Aurist, and one of the ablest operators in this country, has again visit Janesville for three days on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 12th, 13th, and 14th. Office at the Hyatt House.

The testimonials which Dr. Gardner presents to the public could never have been obtained except by the display of great skill and learning in his profession. One thing especially commendable in the doctor's practice is that he will not attempt an incurable disease for the sake of a fee, but frankly tells the patient whether he can be cured or not. We cheerfully recommend Dr. Gardner to the attention of all our friends who may be suffering from diseases of the eye or ear.

Letter from the Fifth.

HEADQUARTERS 5TH REGT. WIS. VOL., NEAR BRANDY STATION, VA., April 26th '64.

Editors Gazette:—Thinking a few lines from this regiment would prove acceptable to such of your readers as have friends here, I take the liberty to send you a few items relating to this regiment. Governor Lewis, Hon. S. D. Hastings and several other Wisconsin gentlemen have been visiting the several Wisconsin regiments in this army for the past few days. Governor Lewis improved the opportunity afforded by his visit to present us with a beautiful new flag on behalf of some of the patriotic ladies of Wisconsin, by whom it was gotten up. Governor Lewis, in the course of his remarks, paid a high compliment to the bravery of the regiment, so often tested on the field of battle, and in behalf of the people of the State he thanked us for maintaining the honor of Wisconsin. Lieut. Col. Catlin, on receiving the flag, made a few appropriate remarks in reply, to the effect that we should at all times conduct ourselves as to try and merit the kindness thus shown us. Then our old flag was given to the Governor to be deposited in his room at the Capitol, where, among others gathered there, it will bear witness to the seventeen battles which it has honorably passed through.

Captain Hathaway, of Co. E, has resigned. We were sorry to part with him. He has been a good and faithful officer, respected by all who knew him. He enlisted as a private in this company April 13th, 1861, and during the three years that he has been in the service has not been off duty a single day.

Col. Allen is on duty at Washington on the board for examining candidates for commissions in colored regiments. The health of the regiment is remarkably good. At no time since its organization has there been so few sick as at the present time. If the weather continues good for a few days longer we shall expect lively times here. When they do come we hope to be able to give a good account of ourselves. Truly Yours,

Things to be Remembered.

First, That it is a positive business necessity to have your buildings, merchandise and other personal property insured against fire.

Second, That E. L. Dimock now has the agency of nearly all the Sound Old Eastern Insurance Companies that are represented in the west, and that the capital represented by these companies is sufficient to do all the insurance for Janesville and Rock County.

Third, That these companies are noted for adjusting losses fairly and paying them promptly.

Fourth, That E. L. Dimock has left a few more of those beautiful calendars for 1864, blotting pads and excise laws for distribution to customers.

To MERCHANTS, MILLERS AND OTHER SHIPPERS.—I am now prepared to make season contracts for Lake Insurance in the old companies at best rates.

OUR MORNING DISPATCHES.

No News of Importance!

Wisconsin's Quota lacks 1,038.

Cotton and Red River Expedition!

TENNESSEE MATTERS IN CONGRESS!

BANKS NOT TO BE REMOVED!

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 28, 1864.—The order issued for recruiting for the Veteran Reserve Corps, authorizes the following persons to be enlisted into the corps, for three years, to be credited to their district like other troops, but not entitled to bounty, namely: All soldiers honorably discharged for disability, who are not liable to draft, whether discharged from the regular army, volunteer or marine corps, provided they are not fit for duty in said corps, as prescribed in General Order No. 212, of 1863.

No movement yet of the Army of the Potomac. Disposition has been made of the army corps not proper to be mentioned at present. Lee remains in his intrenchments.

The rebel Government has taken possession of all the railroads, and is using them to concentrate all the troops in the Atlantic States for the defense of Richmond. Troops have been sent to Richmond from as far south as Augusta.

No passes have been issued to persons desiring to leave the Confederacy for a week.

It is believed now that the Senate will adopt the principle of Farnsworth's amendment to the Tax bill imposing a tax of a quarter of one per cent monthly on all bank circulation. The rate may, however, be reduced from 3 to 2 per cent.

The rumor that Gen. Grant has requested, and the President refused, to supersede Gen. Banks is ascertained to be without foundation. On the contrary, the President has assured Gen. Grant that he is absolute master of all the forces in the field, and that he (the President) does not even decide or know what are his plans in any field of operations.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The President to-day sent in the following message on a subject especially concerning Western interests:

"I have the honor to transmit herewith an address to the President of the United States, and through him to both Houses of Congress, on the condition of the people of Tennessee, asking their attention to the necessity of some action on the part of the Government for their relief, which address is presented by a committee of an organization called The Tennessee Relief Association. Deeply commiserating the condition of these most loyal people, I am unprepared to make any specific recommendation for their relief. The military is doing well and will continue to do the best for them within its power."

Their address represents that the construction of direct railroad communication between Knoxville and Cincinnati, by way of Central Kentucky, would be of great consequence in the present emergency. It may be remembered that in my annual message of December, 1861, such a railroad construction was recommended. I now add that, with the hearty concurrence of Congress, I would yet be pleased to construct the road both for the relief of these people and for its continuing military necessity.

(Signed), "ABRAHAM LINCOLN."

April 28, 1864.

The address above mentioned, recounts the suffering of the people of East Tennessee since the beginning of the rebellion; claims that from a voting population of 35,000 Union men, 15,000 to 18,000 have stolen away from home and enlisted in the Union army in Kentucky; that the rebels, in 1861, took 20,000 hogs, and other stock in proportion; that Burnside's Sherman's and Longstreet's armies have exhausted the remaining supplies, and that, perhaps, not five per cent of the accustomed breadstuffs of wheat can be saved and farms left desolate, and not even with a supply of seed for common farm products. It asks: 1st. The prompt payment of claims against the Government; and 2d. Railroad facilities for obtaining supplies to provide for the destitution which a single year of industry cannot remedy, and estimates the expense of the losses which a railroad built in 1861 would have saved, to be at least five millions of dollars. Every Western man at all familiar with the circumstances knows these representations to be fair and within the facts.

RED RIVER DISASTER IN CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Mr. Henderson said he had read letters the last three days from the Red River, saying that our defeat there was on account of speculation. The cavalry in advance on that occasion, numbering 3,600 men, had 265 wagons, which became entangled and confused and brought on disaster.

Mr. Wilson wanted to know if the Senator charged that the Red River expedition was undertaken for the mere purpose of gathering cotton.

Mr. Henderson said no such thing. He merely wished to know what the brigade of cavalry wanted with 265 wagons, unless it was to gather the products of the country.

Mr. Conness stated on what he considered the highest authority, that these wagons are part of the regular train of the army, and whatever might have been the defect of generalship which brought them there, the statement that they were intended to bring in cotton was not correct.

It was singular that the disaster had followed the statements and predictions of the newspaper writers. He read a letter from General Ewers dated four days before the battle, alleging a conflict of authority between Gen. Banks and General Porter, and stating that the latter was seizing cotton on land as a naval prize, and perdition disaster.

Mr. Conness denounced the statement read as a coward and base slander on Admiral Porter, which he had the highest authority for denying.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Steele Occupies Shreveport!

REBEL LOSSES IN LATE BATTLES.

FROM BANKS' DEPARTMENT.

New York, April 30.—The steamer Yazoo arrived this morning from New Orleans. No news of importance. A letter from Alexandria the 18th says: "All is quiet at Grand Ecore. The enemy are still around us and we hope when we are ready for forward movement again they will not be wanting." The same letter confirms the death of the rebel General Green, in a fight with the gunboats. Red river is slowly falling but the Mississippi is rising fast.

New York, April 30.—General Shipley, late of Louisiana is now Governor of North Carolina.

Late news from N. O. received. An arrival from Grand Ecore, 18th reports important occurrence. The 13th Ind. arrived at N. O. from Matagorda, enroute for home. Gen. Weitzel would leave on the 23d for a command in Va. A small fleet had gone up the Ocmulgee River.

It is stated that an impression prevailed that the rebels would avoid a general engagement, but it was possible that picket firing might result in a battle any moment.

Prisoners, deserters and others, who were present at the battles of Pleasant Hill and Sabine Cross Roads, state that the rebel loss can't fall short of 7,000. Many of them reach as high as 10,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners. The Era publishes a rumor that Gen. Steele has taken possession of Shreveport and thrown up fortifications.

FROM EUROPE.

LIVERPOOL, 30.—Europa from Liverpool 16th via Queenstown 17th arrived with 3 days later news. Conference holds its first meeting in London on the 20th.

LIVERPOOL, April 16.—Broadstuffs very dull. Wheat declining. Provisions dull.

FROM MADISON.

[Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

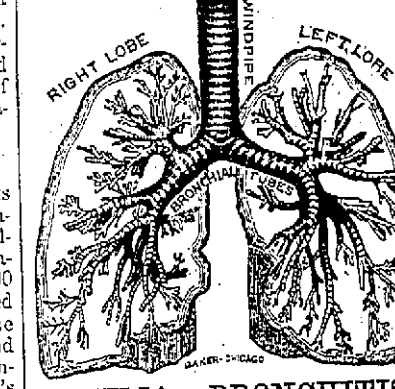

MADISON, April 29.—The 12th regiment Wisconsin infantry volunteers, numbering about seven hundred men, leave here at 10 o'clock A. M. Previous to their departure, they will be presented with magnificent National and State flags, by acting Governor Spooner.

Hon. S. D. Hastings, State Treasurer, arrived home to-day, having been absent at Washington for several weeks.

Gov. Lewis is expected home the first of next week. He has succeeded in having 3,845 men credited to the State, enlisted and mustered before January 1st, 1864, who had not been credited prior to that date. The number still to be raised to fill the quota of Wisconsin, including the enlistments of all veterans and recruits, up to April 20th, is 1,038 men.

AGRICULTURAL.

The Wool Market.

There is more activity in the wool market and a greater advance in prices than was expected to see before shearing time. The change is of course due to the probability of increasing the tax on foreign wools. The N. Y. Economist (manufacturers' organ) is out with a labored article to show how the people will be made to suffer by the passage of such a bill, predicting the stoppage of one half the machines now in operation, and stigmatizing the request as a "piece of monstrous impudence—the most selfish request that has ever been put before Congress by one interest against all others."

See what an enormity would be the result! We quote again from the same source:—"Estimating the crop at 80,000,000 lbs., the proposed change of duty would put into the farmers' pockets $10,000,000 per annum more profit on their crop."

Would it not be a monstrous thing for the farmers to realize this prodigious amount! Suppose it to be divided among a million of wool growers, it would give them just $10 each, while there is not a woolen manufacturer at the East, especially if he be a shoddy contractor, but has pocketed all the way from $10,000 to $300,000. It is well enough to have it understood that if the West is to furnish the men to fight out this war, and to raise the produce to feed and the material to clothe the armies, it is but natural it should look for some remuneration from some quarter, and we know of no one else it can more conscientiously call upon than the shoddy manufacturers of the East. The manufacturers have, for their especial benefit, a full protective tariff upon foreign manufactured goods—such tariff as accomplishes the end desired; but when great numbers of class of individuals outnumbering them a thousand to one, ask for protection against foreign competition, the manufacturers and all in their interest are struck with horror at the monstrous impudence!

All the farmers want is a share of the protective benefits, and we hope and pray Congress will see fit to give it to them. Wool at present prices is not so high as many think, when compared with other articles in the market.

It is time the producers of this country had a chance. We believe they will ere long get it.—Prairie Farmer.

Owning a Farm.

Somewhat it happens, that almost every man who has been city bred feels at times a strong desire to setle down among the trees and green fields, from a vague and undefined belief that the country is the scene where human life attains its highest development. He cherishes a hope, though perhaps a faint one, that he may yet possess a country home, where he may tranquilly pass his latter years, far away from city tumults and trials. This hope is founded on the instinctive desire there is in human nature to possess some portion of the earth's surface. I know that one looks with indelible interest at an acre of ground which is his own. I am sure that there is something remarkable about my trees. I have a sense of property in every sunset over my own hills, and there is perpetual pleasure in the sight of the glowing landscape at my own door. I have found Ten Acres Enough! and I know well what pleasures, interests and compensations are to be found in the little affairs of that limited tract. The windows of the snug library, into which I retire in winter, look out across the garden on the blank gable of my barn. When I came here it was rough and unsightly. But now that homely gable is blank no longer. Every inch is clustered over with climbing roses, honeysuckles, and variegated ivy, in whose tangled mass of vine and foliage the song-birds build in summer, while to the same annual granary the snowbirds come in flocks to gather seeds in winter. Though I could not aspire to being a gentleman-farmer, seeing that I came to make my fortune, not to spend one, yet I have sought to make farming a sort of social science, in which not only the head and hands could be employed, but the sympathies of the heart enlarged and elevated. In short, to establish a home for the family.

I desire no association with the man or boy who would wantonly kill the birds that sing so cheerfully around our dwellings and our farms: he is fitted for treason and murder. Who among us does not, with the freshness of early morning, call upon the memory of the garden of his infancy and childhood; the robin's nest in the old cherry tree, and the nest of young chirplings in the currant-bush; the flowers planted by his mother, and nurtured by his sisters? In all our wandering, the memory of childhood's birds and flowers is associated with that of mother, sister, and our early home. As you would have your children intelligent, virtuous and happy, and their memory in after-life of early home a pleasant or repulsive one, so make your farms and your children's home your business of life, adorn the business, throughout. If you would inspire your own children and your neighbors with the nobleness of your business, then draw about you such an array of beauty as no one but the cultivator of the soil can collect. Let every foot of your farm show the touch of refinement. While you are arranging your fields for convenient and successful cropping, let it be done with order and neatness. While building the fence, let it be beautiful as well as substantial. While arranging your vegetable-gardens and orchards, do not overlook geometrical regularity. Do not, on any account, omit the planting of flowers and the various kind of fruit-trees.—From Ten Acres Enough.

The Wool Market.
There is more activity in the wool market and a greater advance in prices than has been expected to see before shearing time. The change is of course due to the probability of increasing the tax on foreign wools. The N. Y. Economist (manufacturers' organ) is out with a labored article to show how the people will be made to suffer by the passage of such a bill, predicting the stoppage of one half the machines now in operation, and stigmatizing the request as a "piece of monstrous impudence"—the most selfish request that has ever been put before Congress by one interest against all others.

See what an enormous world will be the result! We quote again from the same source: "Estimating the crop at $8,000,000 lbs., the proposed change of duty would put into the farmers' pockets $10,000,000 per annum more profit on their crop."

Would it not be a monstrous thing, for the farmers to realize this prodigious amount! Suppose it to be divided among a million of wool growers, it would give them just $10 each, while there is not a woolen manufacturer at the East, especially if he be a shoddy contractor, but has pocketed all the wool from $10,000 to $500,000. It is well enough to have it understood that if the West is to furnish the wool to feed and the material to clothe the armies, it is but monstrous to have some remuneration for the same quarter, and we know of no one class it can more conscientiously call upon than the shoddy manufacturers of the East. The manufacturers have, for their especial benefit, a high protective tariff upon foreign manufactured goods—such tariff as accomplishes the end desired; but when a great despoiling class of individuals outbidding them a thousand to one, ask for protection against foreign competition, the manufacturers and all in their interest are struck with horror at the monstrous impudence!

All the farmers want is a share of the protective benefits, and we hope and pray Congress will see fit to give it to them. Wool at present prices is not so high as many think, when compared with other articles in the market.

It is time the producers of this country had a chance. We believe they will ere long get it.—Pratt Farmer.

Owning a Farm.

Somewhat it happens, that almost every man who has been city bred feels at times a strong desire to settle down among the trees and green fields, from a vague and undefined belief that the country is the scene where human life attains its highest development. He cherishes a hope, though perhaps a faint one, that he may yet possess a country home, where he may tranquilly pass his latter years far away from city tumults and trials. This hope is founded on the instinctive desire of man to get away from the crowded city, and to the earth's surface. I know that one looks with indelible interest at a acre of ground which is his own, and there is a pleasure in the sight of the glowing landscape at my own door. I have found that the pleasures, interests and compensations to be found in the little affairs of the country life, which I retire in winter, look out across the garden on the blank gable of my barn. When I came here it was rough and unsightly. But now that homely gable is blank no longer. Every inch is clustered over with climbing roses, honeysuckles, and variegated ivy, in whose tangled mass of vine and foliage the songbirds build in summer, while in the autumn granary the showbirds come in flocks to gather seeds in winter. Though I could not aspire to being a gentleman-farmer, feeling that I came to make my fortune, not to spend one, yet I have sought, in which not only the head and science could be employed, but the sympathies of the heart enlarged and elevated. In short, to establish a home for the family.

I desire no association with the man or boy who would wantonly kill the birds that sing so cheerfully around our dwellings and our farms: he is fitted for treason and murder. Who among us does not, with the freshness of early morning, call upon the memory of the garden of his infancy and childhood; the robin's nest in the old cherry tree, and the nest of young chirpings in the currant-bush; the flowers planted by his mother, and nurtured by his sisters? In all our wandering, the memory of childhood's birds and flowers is associated with that of our father, sister, and our early home. As you would have your children intelligent, virtuous and happy, and their memory in after-life, of early home a pleasant or repulsive one, so make your farms and your children's home your business of life, adorn the business, throughout. If you would inspire your own children and your neighbors with the nobleness of your business, then draw about you such an army of beauty as no one but the cultivator of the soil can collect. Let every foot of your farm show the touch of refinement. While you are arranging your fields for convenient and successful cropping, let it be done with order and neatness. While building the fence, let it be beautiful as building a substantial. While arranging your vegetable gardens and orchards, do not overlook geometrical regularity. Do not, on any account, omit the planting of flowers and the various kind of fruit-trees.
